

The map is a topographic representation of a region in Poland, featuring contour lines that indicate elevation. Key settlements are labeled in blue text: Krzyż (top left), Dębiana (center), Charzowice (bottom right), and Mikolaj (bottom right). A red dashed line outlines a specific area of interest, which appears to be a residential or industrial zone. A black dashed line indicates a boundary or road. The map is oriented with North at the top.

The map is a topographic representation of a region in Poland. It features contour lines indicating elevation, with labels such as 220, 230, 240, 250, 260, 270, 280, and 290. Major settlements are labeled in large blue text: Krzyż (top left), Dębiana (center), Charzowice (bottom right), and Mikolaj (bottom right). A prominent black dashed line runs diagonally from the upper left towards the lower right, possibly representing a railway or a significant administrative boundary. The map also shows various roads, water bodies, and smaller settlements like Zieblice and Zieblisce. The terrain is depicted with brown contour lines and green areas representing vegetation or parks. The map is oriented with North at the top.

The map is a topographic representation of a region in Poland. It features contour lines indicating elevation, with labels such as 220, 230, 240, 250, 260, 270, 280, and 290. Major settlements are labeled in large blue text: Krzyż (top left), Dębiana (center), Charzowice (bottom right), and Mikolaj (bottom right). A prominent black dashed line runs diagonally from the upper left towards the lower right, possibly representing a railway or a significant administrative boundary. The map also shows various roads, water bodies, and smaller settlements like Zieblice and Zieblisce. The terrain is depicted with brown contour lines and green areas representing vegetation or parks. The map is oriented with North at the top.

The map displays a topographic view of a region in Poland. Key features include:

- Settlements: Dębiana (population 85), Charzowice (population 40), and Mikolaj (population 83) are labeled. Krzyż is also visible in the upper left.
- Topography: Contour lines indicate elevation, with values ranging from approximately 210 to 280 meters.
- Infrastructure: A network of roads is shown, including a prominent road running diagonally from the bottom left towards the center. A black dashed line follows a similar diagonal path.
- Water Features: A river or stream flows through the area, with several smaller water bodies or ponds.
- Other Labels: "Zieblie" and "Zieplie" are also visible, possibly referring to specific locations or features.

The map is a topographic representation of a region in Poland. It features contour lines indicating elevation, with labels such as 220, 230, 240, 250, 260, 270, 280, and 290. Major settlements are labeled in blue: Krzyż (top left), Dębiana (center), Charzowice (bottom right), and Mikolaj (bottom right). A red dashed line outlines a specific area of interest, which appears to be a residential or industrial zone. A black dashed line indicates a boundary or road. The map also shows various roads, including a main road running diagonally from the top left to the bottom right, and several smaller roads. The terrain is hilly, with contour lines showing a general upward slope from the bottom left towards the top right. The map is oriented with North at the top.